

Hunger Games Book Review.

Nice language choices here.

The Hunger Games is graphic, emotional, and unputdownable.

Katniss Everdeen, fatherless teenager, hunting with her best friend Gale.

Day of the Reaping, where people's names get drawn to enter the Hunger Games.

Katniss' sister, Prim, has her name drawn to be part of this year's Hunger Games.

Katniss volunteers to save her sister.

Training with Peeta, other 'tribute.

Peeta says he's in love with Katniss.

The Hunger Games begin.

Katniss gets hunted by the Career's and Peeta, who she thought was on her side before the Games.

Rue offers Katniss free information to escape the Careers and Peeta, and she makes an alliance with her then.

Rue dies.

Katniss finds Peeta, who is deathly sick.

Katniss receives food if she plays the part she is told.

Rule that Katniss and Peeta can win together.

Games nearly over.

Last other tribute dies.

Rule reversed and then reinstated!

They win together.

In your summary, be more concise and avoid spoilers - you need to be considerate of what your reader needs from the text

The Hunger Games is an amazing book, because the plotline is foolproof, free of plot holes, and has an abundance of twists and turns! Again, nice language choices here.

The original trilogy has sold more than 65 million copies in the U.S. alone (more than 28 million copies of The Hunger Games, more than 19 million copies of Catching Fire, and more than 18 million copies of Mockingjay).

The Hunger Games was written in 2008, and the first hardcover copy was published on September 14th 2008.

Suzanne Collins has published many books, this is a selected amount from her publications

YEAR OF THE JUNGLE.

WHEN CHARLIE MCBUTTON LOST POWER.

MOCKINGJAY.

CATCHING FIRE.

THE HUNGER GAMES.

GREGOR THE OVERLANDER.

GREGOR AND THE PROPHECY OF BANE.

GREGOR AND THE CURSE OF THE WARMBLOODS.

These are great facts. Think about how you can connect them into a paragraph, rather than a list.

'[The Hunger Games] is a violent, jarring novel that generates nearly constant suspense' - Stephen King.

'I was so obsessed with this book I had to take it out with me to dinner and hide it under the edge of the table so I wouldn't have to stop reading.' -Stephanie Meyer.

People have the opinion that the Hunger Games is a story of violence, and this is because the whole book is about the Hunger Games, an extremely violent 'game'. But while the book may be called the Hunger Games, it is about Katniss' life. The book is about her friendship with Gale, her love for her sister, and her tolerance of her mother. But most of all, the book is about surviving, not just The Hunger Games, but life. Surviving life, and surviving the Capitol.

I love this summary - it is nicely written.

The book was emotionally challenging, because it was mostly just sad. At the beginning, you feel Katniss' despair when Prim gets picked, then, later in the book when Rue dies, and at the end of the book, only then does she find happiness surviving the Games and even then her will is not her own. However, a lot of people just view the Hunger Games as violent, and that is because the violence is the cause of her suffering. The most powerful part of the story is when Cato dies, because Katniss realises to what extent the capitol will go for entertainment.

I would entirely recommend this book for other readers, and this is because the book is brilliant, emotionally, and in how it's written.

Exactly what type of person would or wouldn't like it? Think about what your reader needs from this text.