

English Homework Week 8

What do they show about them? develop this Point

The houses in District 12 represent the people living in District 12. For example, the text says, "the squat grey houses." This quote tells us that District 12 is the opposite of the Capitol, as while District 12 is described as "squat" and "grey", the Capitol is described as "glistening buildings in a rainbow of hues that tower into the air." The word "grey" ^{symbolises} suggests that the houses of District 12 are very dull, and not like the Capitol, where there are a range of bright colours.

nice - explain this comparison

Furthermore, the colour grey can be a depressing colour, and it could represent the people of District 12 as they don't have freedom and aren't happy because of the Capitol, which controls them, and they cannot escape from. The word, "squat" suggests that the houses of District 12 are very small, unlike the Capitol with its skyscrapers. This could symbolise that District 12 is below the Capitol. Just like the buildings, the people of the Capitol are above the people of District 12, as they control them and are much richer than them. This proves my point that the houses in District 12 represent the people living in District 12.

lovely explanation of colour symbolism

yes - in what way?

Again - develop the link - what does your analysis show? How does it prove your point?
